

OCTOBER 1 – JOIN THE MOVEMENT!

Oneday We'll End Hate.

We live in turbulent times in America. As we look for ways to positively express our values, we see how the power of communities can be tapped to ignite change.

Oneday Against Hate is a national day of action where individuals from all walks of life come together to deepen our understanding of our collective differences—the most effective antidote to hate, bigotry and bias.

By Sparking Conversations of Understanding

People feel hatred toward groups, not individuals. It's difficult to hate up close.

We only hate what we don't understand.

We all have different life experiences. We believe that fighting hate begins with understanding someone else's experience – and that understanding begins with a simple conversation.

Fighting hate can feel hard. But together we can make a difference. Oneday, we can spark conversations to increase our collective understanding of one another's experience and fight back against hate.

Oneday Against Hate will start a conversation. A conversation starts a movement. A movement can change the world.

Together #WeAreOneday

Join the Movement!

1. Pledge: Add your name and pledge to be a part of Oneday Against Hate
2. Converse: Hold a conversation of understanding on October 1, 2018
3. Share: Tell the nation you're a part of the movement by posting on social media and using the hashtag #WeAreOneday

Go to WeAreOneday.org to download easy engagement toolkits and social media assets.

For more information please contact Olivia Marcus at omarcus@adl.org.